FORTUNE CONTRACT PUTS ON THE DOG WITH LIVINGSTON

SHOWROOM 11-35, NEOCON 2005 – Fortune Contract introduces a new breed of scale and texture with its commercial carpet, Livingston. Named after designer Judith Ingalls' puppy, Livingston is a playful, yet organized pattern that offers plenty of options for most any commercial environment. Livingston allows for smaller scale play in combination with Fortune's successful Forecast product, or on its own in large open office areas.

Manufactured with 38 ounces of Solutia Ultron fiber, Livingston is a cut/uncut pattern. It's available in 17 color choices. One of several new products from Fortune Contract, Livingston extends the pattern and texture options within the company's core Forecast palette.

For a first look at this unique new product, and others to be revealed, be sure to visit Fortune Contract at NeoCon in Showroom 11-35.
